Harding College FREE ENTERPRISE ECONOMICS June 5-July 6, 1978

Harding College Center for Private Enterprise Education and the Department of Business and Economics Offer Free Enterprise Economics

Economics 440, FREE ENTERPRISE ECONOMICS, is being offered to dramatize, simplify, and enrich explanations of an economic system in which an individual is "free" to be anything he wants, if he has the "enterprise" to do it.

A Free Market Syllabus will be used in this course which meets daily for five weeks, for three hours upper level or graduate credit. No prerequisite is required. FREE ENTERPRISE ECONOMICS also fulfills the State Department of Education economics requirement for those who might plan to teach at the secondary level.

All who would seek to be opinion leaders on the subject of economic individualism will want to be as well-prepared and as effective as their ability will permit. FREE ENTERPRISE ECONOMICS is designed to meet and achieve this goal.
